

Abstract:

A multiple blade centrifugal cutting machine having a planetary gear system for coordinating the motion of the blades so that the blades move into the work at the same speed to an equal depth to either sever the work element or strip away one or 5 more layers of coating from the core of the work element.